Paid opportunity for young Black, indigenous & people of colour.

Prosiect Treftadaeth Pobl Ifanc BIPOC Young People's BIPOC Heritage Project

A new project from madeinroath, in partnership with The Privilege Cafe and ACAP Academy, are looking for young Black & indigenous people and young people of colour (BIPOC) to become part of an intersectional heritage project to document and explore the history of the Black experience in Wales. The aim is for the young people to combine learning, community activism and historical research, and to create a shareable online resource which will specifically redress the lack of representation of BIPOC communities within Welsh museums, archives and the education curriculum.

This is a small pilot project which we hope to expand in the future, and at the moment we are looking for 10 young people from BIPOC communities to take part in a minimum of 5 x 2 hour sessions. The project will be led by the young people (including finding a name for it!), so specific outcomes are still to be decided, but could include a website, audio histories, a podcast, film etc - the ultimate aim is to create a well researched resource(s) which addresses the general lack of awareness and understanding of the BIPOC narrative in Wales.

Each group member will receive £100 for taking part in the sessions, and facilitators will include Dr Sarah Younan, Youth Engagement Coordinator at Amgueddfa Cymru, Mymuna Soleman, founder of the hugely successful and influential Privilege Cafe, and the eminent historian and psychologist Abu-Bakr Madden Al Shebazz.

If you would like to be part of the group, you will need to be from a BIPOC community, aged between 18-24 years, and have a keen interest in the subject of heritage and history. To submit an application, please send a written statement (one side of A4) about yourself and why you are interested in the project, including any relevant experience and skills which you would bring to the group : for example, web/IT design experience, research, creative skills, community/online activism, digital capture (film making, audio history recording & photography), recent, relevant qualifications etc. We welcome expressions of interest from people with disabilities and additional access needs so please include any relevant information so that we can ensure that these are accommodated.

The meetings are likely to take place virtually, via Zoom, and days/times will be decided by the group to suit all members, it is not necessary for you to be in Cardiff, but you must be Welsh and in Wales to take part. Welsh language speakers would be an asset to the group, but please be aware that sessions will be conducted in the English language.

Please email your statement of interest to gail@madeinroath.com by August 7th 2020, please also use this email address if you have any questions about the project.

We look forward to hearing from you!
